THE T.U.C. REVIEWED

THE daily newspapers did the same last week with the Irish Trade Union Congress as they have done for the last three weeks and are still doing on Spain: they reported what pleased their financial bosses and suppressed the rest!

For example Mr. P.T. Daly, secretary Dublin Trades Council, made a powerful case against the coercion policies of the two Governments and for the release of the prisoners. Not a word of this was published!

Christie Clarke (Irish Woodworkers'), Robt. Smith (Plumbers') and numerous other delegates raised the issue of Spain in their fight against the Fascists. Not a word of this was published. Oh Truth, how our ruling classes fear you!

The Congress marked an advance on any of its predecessors in the militancy of its tone. The speeches of every delegate struck the note that the capitalist system had nothing to offer the workers, but tyranny strife and hunger. But while condemning capitalism the Congress failed to face up to the alternative. Mr. Drumgoole in the Presidential address stated that neither Fascism nor Communism was the solution and left the delegates to guess what the solution was. Numbers of the delegates particularly in the discussion on the unemployment resolution brought out the fact that in one country – Soviet Russia – the problem of finding work, greatest nightmare of the working class, was now solved. This was reply enough to the confused and foolish statement of the President. Other delegates, among them Mr. W. O'Brien, pointed to the example of the French and Belgian workers in securing the 40 hour week by law, increased wages and holidays with pay.

It is necessary here to remark that it was the policy of the Communist Party of Russia that brought victory to the workers of ha country and abolished unemployment. It was the policy of the powerful French Communist Party in establishing the People's Front that led to the victory of the French masses at the polls, and to the winning of the 40 hour week, etc. But the leaders of Irish Labour avoided looking these facts straight in the face. They seem to see clearly enough what is wrong. They seem to see also that the Russians and the French are on the right road. But they fear to take that path themselves.

This deplorable attitude made itself felt on both the Spanish issue and that of the Republican prisoners. Standing Orders resisted all attempts to get a resolution before the Congress for the Prisoners release, and an expression of solidarity with the fighters for freedom in Spain.

It now remains for the workers in the Unions to take up the issues raised at the Congress. What practical steps are to be taken to implement the resolution for the 40 hour week? It is no use just posting it to De Valera and Craigavon and waiting for the thing to happen. A campaign needs to be launched throughout the whole working class to secure it, and the demand served on the employers. The same holds [illegible]

VOICES FROM RUSSIA

No one contends that the Bolsheviks are angels. I ask only that men shall look through the fog of libel that surrounds them and see that the ideal for which they are struggling, in the only way in which they can struggle, is among those lights which every man of young and honest heart sees before him somewhere on the road, and not among those other lights from which he resolutely turns away. These men who have made the Soviet Government in Russia, if they must fail, will fail with clean shields and clean hearts, having striven for an ideal which will live beyond them. Even if they fail, they will none the less have written a page of history more daring than any other which I can remember in the story of the human race. They are writing it amid showers of mud from all the meaner spirits in their country, in yours and in my own. But, when the thing is over, and their enemies have triumphed, the mud will vanish like black magic at noon, and that page will be as white as the snows of Russia, and the writing on it as bright as the gold domes that I used to see glittering in the sun when I looked from my windows in Petrograd. And when in after years men read that page they will judge your country and mine, your race and mine, by the help or hindrance they gave to the writing of it.—Arthur Ransome in The New Republic.
